A HORRIBLE DEATH.

How Daniel Driscoll Helplessly Awaited Death by the Rising Tide.

A railroad accident on the South Pacific Coast line on the 11th was the cause of two deaths, one of which was as terrible as ever recorded. The through freight train from Santa Cruz was crossing a barren marshy land where the engine sunk and keeled over, drawing after it six cars. As the train was going at a rapid rate of speed, the cars and engine were piled upon each other. The engineer, Symons, was thrown from the engine and probably injured internally. When the engine turned over, Dan Driscoll, the fireman, was caught and held to the ground by an iron bar across his breast, while another bar held one foot fast. Thus held, and retaining consciousness, he fully realized that, as the tide was rapidly rising he could escape death from drowning but a short time. Six men were on hand and labored to save him. They wrapped sheets about his body and exerted their combined strength to pull him from his appalling position. He cried piteously that they were killing him. They tried again and again, but with the same result. A levee was built about his head to keep down the rising tide. Buckets were brought, and by faithful bailing it was attempted to keep the water from reaching his head. He was lying under the cab, and a hole was cut through the cab through which he could put his head. They raised his head above the water, which rose slowly about his body. The men found they must make a final effort. Then his head was lowered and they all caught hold and pulled desperately. It was in vain. They raised his head again. The water raised slowly but surely. It reached his chin. A friend held his hand over the drowned man's mouth. The water rose to his nostrils. Nothing more could be done and he was drowned.

From Mohawk Hill, N. Y., a prominent farmer, Mr. Joseph Kapfer, writes: "St. Jacob's Oil is an invaluable remedy for the farm; for it has the same curative influence on animals as on mankind."

MELVILLE AT HOME.

The telegraph to-day announces the arrival at New York of Engineer Melville and other survivors of the fated Jeannette. The charges made against Melville by Lieutenant Danenhower will soon be investigated by the Secretary of the Navy, and the public will look for the result with much interest. Danenhower's charges are very serious—nothing less than that Melville is responsible for the death of De Long and his party. He declares that if Melville had permitted him to go on northward, or had gone on himself at the proper time, De Long and his party would have been rescued. The public gives but little heed to this charge. The people entertain strong convictions that Melville was the ablest explorer of the whole party, and that De Long himself was responsible for the unfortunate and terrible end of the expedition. Danenhower has assumed great risk by his charges. If he fails to sustain them he will undoubtedly be dismissed from the service.

SUCH IS FAME.

The Carson Tribune says: "Our young friend of the Bodie Free Press is and has been for years an admirer of the heavenly bodies, in fact, an astrologer. Read his interesting remarks." Then follows an article stolen bodily from the Reno GAZETTE. Say, Cleve, don't you know better?

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Many sound Republican newspapers in California predict that the Sunday-law plank in the Republican platform will endanger the success of that party at the coming election. Sunday laws have been tested all over the Union, and in most cases found impracticable. To close all places of amusement and resort on the Sabbath would work severe hardship to one-half the men on the Pacific coast.

The knowledge of the fact that the Edmunds law is in force in Utah, and that the days of polygamy are numbered, does not seem to have spread abroad widely. Over 600 newly fledged Latter-day Saints have just arrived from Europe. Half of them are from England, where the classes from which they came ought to know better by this time.

General Wolseley has inflicted a serious blow to the Egyptian army, and according to to-day's dispatches Arabi Pasha is in a serious strait. The taking of Tel-el-Kebir will probably cripple him beyond repair, though he will doubtless maintain an aggressive front by resorting to the favorite guerrilla tactics of the Bedouins.

TO-DAY'S NEWS

Press Dispatches to EVENING GAZETTE.

EASTERN DISPATCHES.

A Thoroughbred Steamboat.

NEW YORK, September 13.

Charles L. Wright, a representative of a number of capitalists, has taken steps towards the organization of a new steamship line to run between New York and Liverpool. They hold patents for a newly-invented iron steamship which, it is claimed, will cross the Atlantic ocean in five and a half days. C. D. Sundbourg of the Swedish navy is the inventor of this new ship, which is to have concave sides and two screws.

The new steamship will be controlled entirely by American capital. According to the plan the steamer will have a displacement of 11,000 tons, length 450 feet, and four decks, two of which will be for saloon passengers. She will be moved by two propellers worked by two compound engines of 4,500 horse-power each. Captain Sundborg claims to be able to obtain a speed of at least 20 miles an hour, and more in good weather. The time for a quick passage to Europe will be five days.

Bonds of the Star-Routers.

WASHINGTON, September 13.

The Criminal Court met this morning, Judge Wylie presiding, for the purpose of hearing arguments on motions entered on Monday last for arrest of judgment in regard to Miner and Reerdell and to increase the bonds of the defendants as to whom the jury failed to agree. Brady, Vaile and J. W. Dorsey were present, and as soon as the Court was called to order Reerdell and Miner entered, accompanied by two Sheriffs. The Court said the matter of bonds would be taken up first. He held that subsisting bonds would continue in force so far as defendants as to whom the jury failed to agree were concerned. Merrick concurred, but insisted that the Court increase Vaile's bond, which Court did, from $1,000 to $10,000.

What Foreman Dickson Says.

WASHINGTON, September 13.

Foreman Dickson's sworn statement, filed this morning with the District Attorney, contains only one new statement, that Bowen, who urged the conviction of Brady and Dorsey, said the President would pardon them possibly within 30 days. Bowen said Bliss, Merrick and Key were entirely ignorant of the Attorney-General's movement in the bribery matter.

Illinois Republicans.

CHICAGO, September 13.

The Republican State Central Committee had a full meeting at the Grand Pacific to-day. Blaine was at the hotel, but did not appear at the meeting, being obliged to go by the noon train to Kansas City. The meeting has not yet assumed wider scope than State affairs. All Congressional nominees from all parts of the State are present and have been giving reports of the condition of affairs in their districts. A great deal of enthusiasm was manifested.

A Lie Somewhere.

WASHINGTON, September 13.

Alex F. Falls, the lawyer referred to in Dickson's statements as having attempted to bribe Juror Hellmead, pronounces the story a direct falsehood, made entirely out of whole cloth and without the slightest foundation. In fact, Falls says he was never in the Court-room during the trial, does not know Hellmead, and has no recollection of ever seeing him.

EGYPT'S TROUBLES.

Tel-el-Kebir Captured by the British—The Egyptians Suffer Great Loss—A Brilliant Bayonet Charge.

ALEXANDRIA, September 13.

The Khedive has received a telegram from Sultan Pasha saying the British attack on Tel-el-Kebir commenced at 4:30 o'clock this morning. Forty guns and large numbers of prisoners were captured. The cavalry are in pursuit. Arabi's forces appeared to be quite broken up. A dispatch from the front reports the complete demoralization of Arabi's army. His infantry are flying towards the desert.

KASSASSIN, September 13.

At the capture of Tel-el-Kebir the Egyptian loss is estimated at 2,000. Our loss is probably 200, including many officers. The Highland brigade bore the brunt of the action. Another account says the attack on Tel-el-Kebir began at 4:45 this morning. The main attack was directed against the enemy's extreme left flank, four miles north of the railway. A heavy artillery and infantry fire is now proceeding. The British troops are advancing rapidly, and evidently turning the enemy's flank. The British armored train, with the 40-pounder Krupp gun which was captured at Kassassin, and Gatlings, has just come into action. The fire of the enemy's extreme right is nearly silenced.

KASSASSIN, September 13.

The Egyptians opened fire when the British were within about a mile of Tel-el-Kebir. The place appears to have been finally captured by a rush of Indian cavalry, who are hotly pressing the fugitives on the south and the British cavalry on the north of the canal. The enemy's killed alone amounts to 2,000. The retreat of the enemy on the north is cut off.

ISMALIA, September 13.

Tel-el-Kebir was carried this morning with a rush. The first shot was fired at 5 o'clock and the position was taken in 20 minutes, we having surprised the enemy by a night march.

ISMALIA, September 13.

Enemy in full retreat.

ALEXANDRIA, September 13.

The taking of Tel-el-Kebir causes great joy here. Extensive demonstrations are organizing for to-night. Italians and Greeks have taken the initiative, but persons of all nationality will participate. General Wood received a dispatch from Wolseley stating that Tel-el-Kebir was captured after a 20 minutes' assault, and 3,000 prisoners taken, the enemy flying and cavalry pursuing them.

The cut lettting the sea into Lake Mareotus has been completed and the water is spreading rapidly.

LONDON, September 13.

A correspondent gives the following description of the battle: TEL-EL-KEBIR, Sept. 13, 4:45 A. M.—General Wolseley arrived on the ground and the artillery opened fire before the enemy were aware of its presence. The infantry immediatly after pressed forward, deploying and opening fire from a sheltered position. At this moment the battle is raging fiercely, so far as firing is concerned, but the men have not yet come to close quarters with the rebels.

TEL-EL-KEBIR, 9 A. M.—The great battle is practically over. The Rebels discovered our men when about a mile from their works and opened a heavy rifle fire. Our men paused for a moment on a line of sand hills, then with a gallant rush they were upon the rebels. Acting under Gen. Wolseley's orders they reserved their fire and went in with bayonets. The slaughter for a time was very great. The rebels could not stand it, and broke and fled, pursued hotly. I followed the Royal Irish regiment into the trenches before one of the forts. They were filled with Arabi's followers, dead and dying. The final rush was made over a distance of 200 yards, the men skirmishing and scaling cover until they reached the point. Several thousand Egyptians were taken prisoners. Our own loss up to this time I should compute at 200 killed.

ALEXANDRIA, September 13.

Zagazig advices say that orders have been given to burn all property of Europeans if Arabi is defeated.

LONDON, September 13.

Wolseley telegraphs that Arabi escaped on horseback to Zagazig. His official report confirms accounts published.

Greece Boiling Hot

VIENNA, September 13.

The Greek Minister of Foreign Affairs has issued a circular saying that if the Porte does not immediately surrender four disputed points on the frontier Greece will resume hostilities.

WESTERN TELEGRAMS.

The Marquis and Princess Get a Shake Up—Their Arrival at the Bay.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 13.

The special train with the Marquis of Lorne and Princess Louise on board was run into at Port Costa this morning by a yard engine. The engine of the special train was badly damaged. One report says the Princess received slight bruises, but nothing definite has been learned.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 13.

Latest advices regarding the accident to the special train at Port Costa show that the special on leaving the ferry-boat received a signal to go on. Just before reaching a curve a quarter of a mile from the ferry, the train moving about six miles per hour, a yard engine came around the curve with a rush. Both engines were reversed and the engineers and firemen jumped. The collision was violent and the special engine was badly damaged. The Princess at the time of the collision was making her toilet and was thrown down, but received no injuries beyond a few trifling bruises. All occupants of the car were shaken up, crockery broken and parcels strewn about, but no one was injured. Another engine was furnished and the train proceeded.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 13.

The Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise and party arrived in this city shortly after 10 A. M., having been detained but 50 minutes at Port Costa by the accident, which was not serious and resulted in no injury to any of the party. They were met on arrival by British Consul Booker and proceeded without ceremony to the Palace Hotel. An address of welcome will be presented on behalf of the British residents this evening. On arrival at the Palace the party proceeded to rooms and it is now understood that, owing to the fatigue of the journey, to-day will be passed in seclusion. Presentation of address from British subjects will be deferred until to-morrow and a public demonstration until after their return from Victoria. The party will sail Friday.

THE DENVER EXPOSITION.

The First and Largest Display of the Kind in the World.

PART II.

The display from Colorado is simply superb. In a prominent position stands a large monument representing the relative proportions of gold and silver taken from Gilpin county. The monument is about 25 feet high. The pedestal represents $3,000,000 product in silver, and the slab $35,500,000 in gold. Another smaller monument represents 17½ hours' output of the Robt. E. Lee mine at Leadville, $118,500. There is an exhibit from the Mathless mine running $36,225 to the ton. There are some curious telluorides which assay all the way from $15,000 to $50,000 to the ton. There is some white lead ore and some magnificent native gold from the Golden Age mine in Boulder county. A large pile of carbonates have come from the Hardscrabble District. A profile section is shown of the Bunker Hill mine in Custer county from which 20,000 pounds of ore were taken by four men. The Argo smelting works make a fine display, including 37 fine silver bars, value $75,000; one gold bar, obtained from 2,500 tons of ore, value $55,000; also a large number of jars containing granulated silver, alloy of copper and silver, cement silver, and silver, copper and gold in various stages. A curious and beautiful specimen of "moss copper" is shown. Besides what are ordinarily known as the precious metals Colorado makes a fine exhibit of coal and iron. One single unbroken block of anthracite coal is six feet long, five feet wide and four and one-half feet thick. Iron, both crude and manufactured, is displayed.

UTAH.

The Utah exhibit shares the honors with that of Colorado. Here is the most wonderful thing perhaps in the Exposition—petrified wood with silver in it assaying $80 to the ton. Perhaps some of your readers can explain how it got there. If silver ever grew upon trees what a pity the seed has been lost. The sample comes from Silver Reef. The same place also shows silver sand-stone ores running $50 to $520. Fine lead and silver ores are sent from West Mountain; sulphur from Gordon District, running 70 and 80 per cent.; bismuth, 50 per cent. Quicksilver is also displayed; marble, in seven different shades; iron, showing 70 per cent.; mineral wax; various building stones, as well as coal, copper, and about every mineral known to man. Antimony comes from the Coyote District, 71 per cent. The Horn Silver mine makes a beautiful display, as do also the Cave, the Ontario, Uintah, Little and Big Cottonwood and others. Twenty-five districts in all are represented and the effect is to create a decided respect for the resources of Utah.

ARIZONA.

Arizona, of course, has a rich exhibit. Tombstone, whose output for the six months ending with the last of June of this year was $2,357,235 is represented by the best mines—the Grand Central, Contention, Aunt Sally and Luck Sure. Each of these mines sends specimens of great richness and beauty. The Silver King has also a handsome showing. Copper is contributed by the Copper Prince and Copper Queen. The latter shows one specimen weighing 1150 pounds, running 27.8 per cent.

OTHER EXHIBITS.

Wyoming is not far behind in her display. New Mexico sends elaborate specimens. One chunk of horn silver from Lake valley weighs 640 pounds, and is worth $7,000. Wool and coal are also shown. Idaho makes a creditable display.

THE NEVADA DISPLAY

Is respectable but extremely meagre. Prominent among the productions of the State is the rattle of a deceased rattle-snake. On the whole the exhibit is not a showy one, being in the nature of a cabinet collection of specimens from various mines. Salt, silver, gold and copper appear. Commissioner George has with his display a very interesting atlas, showing the location and workings of the principal mines in Nevada. It is the work of Professor Clarence King, geologist in charge of the United States exploring party. The ores on exhibition represent nearly all the varieties of mineral possible to mention, and all are rich, ranging from $60 to $24,000 per ton. The finest ruby silver specimen is from the Manhattan Mining Company's mine at Austin, Lander county, and assays $4,000, and as fine a sample of smelting ore as is on exhibition comes from Downeyville, a recent discovery in a comparatively new district. Smelting furnaces are now turning out thousands of dollars worth of bullion from these mines monthly. Specimens from the Alexander mine are also on exhibition which are taken from a ledge 75 feet in width. The mine recently sold for $650,000. Also rich ores from the Centennial mine, Lobos, Jeannette and other mines in Nye and Lander counties. Comstock mines show 21 specimens, one of which, from the Kentuck lode, weight 275 pounds, which will run $1,300 per ton in silver and gold. These mines have produced over $300,000,000 and $116,000,000 in dividends. They have workings over 3,000 feet deep. But, meager as the Nevada display is, it comprises every known precious metal-bearing ore, and there are, besides, samples of both crude and crystalized borax and salt from Rhodes' Marsh, in Esmeralda. There are specimens of horn silver from the Eberhardt lode, White Pine, ranging from $2,000 to $10,000 per ton. Ormsby and Douglas counties are represented by handsome specimens. In fact, nearly every mining district in Nevada is represented. Though the display is not large it attracts much attention.

THE RAILROAD EXHIBIT.

Three railroad companies make exhibits of the productions along their line—the Union Pacific, the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe and the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy. That of the latter road is mainly agricultural, for this Exposition is not merely mineral. There are pianos, carpets, rugs, Chinese articles, yeast powders, canned goods, carriages in great quantities, and an art gallery with a large number of painting, including one or two tolerably fair ones.

MACHINERY.

Mining machinery, of course, forms an important part of the Exposition. Space has not been well economized and a large number of machines were ruled out for want of room. Most of the machinery exhibit is familiar to your readers.

CONCLUSION.

Anything like a detailed description of either machinery or minerals is of course out of the question in the space at command. There are also many machines not used in mining. Two superb locomotives are sent from the Baldwin works in Philadelphia, one a freight engine weighing 56 tons, and the other a passenger engine weighing 28. Taken as a whole, the Exposition is a decided success. Nothing similar has ever before been attempted, and geologists, mining students, metallurgists and practical miners have an opportunity on a large scale of studying and comparing the numberless forms in which Nature has hidden her treasures. If the Exposition remains open permanently, and is added to from time to time, it will undoubtedly be one of the most valuable institutions in the country. C. H. PHELPS.

—In Paris yesterday the Russian actress Feyjhite, shot herself in the apartments of the Duc de Morney. She is in a precarious condition.

The Victim of Correspondents.

A. H. Barnes has a voluminous correspondence from the East concerning his very peculiar case of tube-tapping for staving off the inroads of consumption. He is in daily receipt of letters from parties similarly afflicted, who wish to know if the statement made in the GAZETTE some months ago be true. Mr. Barnes says if the letters of inquiry continue to flow in so fast, he will be compelled to give notice that correspondents must send a stamp with their letters, as the tax is becoming onerous.

NAPOLEON'S HEAD COOK.

The Man Who Prepared Grub for the Tail-end of a Dynasty.

Mons. Francois, who is now chef de cuisine at the Arcade, is the most illustrious stew-blender on the coast, having been Lord Mayor of Napoleon's kitchen from the fall of Sedan till the dethroned monarch died at Chiselhurst. Mons. Francois dwells with glowing pride on the dainties he used to prepare for the royal maw, and with regret that Nap.'s internals were at last so upset by defeat and humiliation that his stomach declined to entertain anything but French brandy. He is proud of his connection with royalty, and exhibits a dignity of gait and motion as he stalks about the Arcade kitchen that is seldom seen in an ordinary caravansary. Every movement denotes conscious superiority. He manipulates a long-handled frying-pan with as much grace as a courtier wields a rapier, but he is seen at his grandest when he grasps a potatoe-masher and fancies he is directing an army with a field-marshal's baton. But Francois is an excellent cook, and the dishes he prepares are fit "to set before a king." The old man is rather lame now. One day Bismarck, who was afraid Napoleon would be fed too high, came into the kitchen of the captive Emperor, and spit on Francois' foot because there was no sour-kraut in the pot. Since then Francois has been half-paralyzed on the off side.

THE CATTLE BUSINESS.

Large Purchases—Great Advance in Prices of Beef Animals.

Miller & Lux of San Francisco recently bought Harrison & Mahone's herd of 2,000 cattle on the Malheur, Baker county, Oregon; Leslie's herd on the Owyhee, of about 4,000; Dresler & Clara's herd on Burnt river, of 1,000, and Chas. Becker's herd in Cow valley, of about 1,500; also all the small herds they can get, and are paying $32 per head for three-year-old steers.

Dunphy & Hildreth, the well known cattle men, have bought about 3,000 tons of hay in Paradise valley. This hay is to be used in feeding cattle for the San Francisco market next Fall and Winter. The price paid is said to be $6 50 per ton on the ranches.

Ed. Lyng of Paradise says stock cattle have advanced 75 per cent. and beef cattle about 80 per cent. in price within a year. Stock cattle which sold a year ago for $12 per head, now sell readily at $20.

Where All the Money Goes.

MR. EDITOR: It is almost impossible for a merchant to get a cent out of his debtors. They not only put you off, but will swear at you in the bargain. The query often arises: "What do people do with their money?" I can answer it. When a snide circus or a cheap auction dry goods store comes to town, the people will rush there as fast as they can; they can't get there quick enough. What becomes of the money, then? Does it remain in town or do these blood-sucking vampires take it away? If these reasons be duly considered you will see the disadvantages the citizens and merchants suffer through such enterprises. TAXPAYER.

Artesian Water.

The railroad company's artesian well at White Plains is down to a depth of 500 feet, but flowing water was encountered at 40 feet, but it was not fit for the required purpose, being brackish. Locomotives must have pure water, or their boilers will foul. The Desert Crystal Salt Company utilize the water for irrigating and other purposes. The men who are boring say the indications are excellent and they are hoping to strike another vein of flowing water within a few hundred feet.

A Novel Suggestion.

This morning when the party went up the river to search for the bodies of Mr. Larcombe and son, A. H. Barnes suggested that they take a mirror to throw the sun's rays in the deep pools where the bodies are supposed to have lodged. He illustrated his idea by holding a small looking-glass over the well in front of the Golden Eagle, when the bottom could be seen as plainly as if there were no water there. Mr. Sanders accordingly took a mirror along with him.

The Hebrew New Year.

THE AUCTION SALE.

Goods Knocked Down at Very Low Figures.

The great dry goods auction sale opened last evening at 7:30 o'clock and remained open about an hour. Only a portion of the goods were open and some of them were mislaid. Handkerchiefs and towels were sold in dozens; blankets, bed-spreads, piano covers and that class of goods were sold singly. The goods appeared to be of good quality, and everything went very low. Everything that was put up was sold promptly and for what it would bring. The goods sold last night went mostly into other stores, being bought by dealers in small lots. After people find out that the goods sold are of good quality they will be more likely to attend the sale and buy at first hands instead of letting the merchants get the benefit. This morning they opened several cases of remnants, which did not come in this consignment, but from the McIntyre stock, consisting of remnants of dress goods, table linens, crashes, cassimeres, waterproofs, etc. They will be on sale this evening.

Care of Cattle En Route.

Many cattle-trains have passed through Reno lately, and sympathetic persons have peeked into the close quarters where 18 or 20 beeves are stowed and wondered how they could live during a trip of several hundred miles without food or water, and speculated on the cruelty of cattle men, whereas it is to the latter's own interest to handle his stock as carefully as possible. The animals are turned out of the cars at regular intervals, where corrals are prepared for them to feed and recuperate for 24 hours before they resume their journey again. In this manner they are kept in good condition until they arrive at their destination.

Indictments and Acquittals.

The Grand Jury has indicted Mrs. Boynton for arson, also Annie Levy who fired the Court-house, Grizzly Dan for burglary, Rice for forgery. They acquitted Desmond for shooting O'Keefe and Sessions' George for killing an Indian.

Remove Those Horses.

The people of Reno are using water from the Orr ditch, and the Commissioners should have the bodies of the two horses lost the other day removed, as they are above the head of it and contaminate the water.

YOUNG MEN

WHO MAY BE SUFFERING FROM the effects of youthful follies or indiscretion, will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR. SPINNEY will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal Weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN.

There are many at the age of thirty and sixty who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will often be found, and some small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin milkish hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

Office Hours—10 to 4 and 6 to 8. Sundays from 10 to 11 A. M. Consultation Free. Thorough examination and advice $5.

P. S. For private diseases of short standing a full course of medicines sufficient for a cure, with necessary instructions, will be sent to any address on receipt of Ten Dollars.
